Chapter 2: 440 Mesmerizing Copy Connectors

Regular transitions or copy connectors keep all the parts of your ad copy flowing together. Hypnotic transitions do the same thing but trigger your prospect's imagination and appeals to their subconscious mind. Here are a few examples:

As a result you remember ...

In short just imagine ...

You simply combine a transition with some mind words like imagine, recall, remember, visualize, etc.

They can put your prospect into a persuasive state of flow or zone while they're reading your ad copy.

Another tip for getting your prospects into a flow state is to use a lot of words, phrases and sentences that rhyme throughout your ad copy. Haven't you ever read a poem that just flows together and brings your mind along with it?

Chapter 3: 60 Subconscious Openers

One of the most effective way to open up and persuade your prospect's subconscious mind is to get them to relax first. They'll be more susceptible to your ads. They will also absorb, store and remember the information easier, which can be good for branding, viral marketing and word of mouth marketing.

For example, have you ever been tired or very relaxed and one of your family members or friends asked you to buy something for them and you agreed. Then later on you think, "I can't believe I spent my hard-earned money to buy that for him/her." You likely wouldn't have bought it if you weren't so tired or relaxed. Being really relaxed lowered your buying defenses.

You can just suggest that your prospect do one or more of the activities below for a few minutes before they read your ad or before they get to an important section of it.

It's more effective to suggest a couple of different ways they can relax. They will usually pick the one that works the best. If you only suggest one it might not be the way they like to relax.

If they even relax just a little, it will help open up their subconscious mind.

Here are some helpful phrases and activities you could suggest and use:

Remove any distractions before you read the ad ...
Close your eyes and relax for a few minutes ...
Focus on a relaxing object for a few minutes ...
Remember a relaxing dream you've had ...
Allow all your worries to shrink away ...
Let yourself daydream about something relaxing ...
Concentrate on a calming object for a few minutes ...
Turn on some relaxing background music ...
Burn some calming incense ...

Chapter 4: 25 Seductive Story Starters

Stories are very hypnotic. I know when I watch or hear a good story that has a character I would like to be, or one that has some similarities to me, I subconsciously place myself right into the action of the story.

Your prospects may subconsciously place themselves in your stories too. Your real, made up or even non-human characters could be buying your product, enjoying the benefits or being punished for not buying. Anything goes! Give your characters some dialog to talk directly to your prospects or to each other. They could tell them your product's facts, benefits, guarantee, features, uses, price, testimonials, closing, etc.

Sensory persuasion is what you or someone else saw, have seen, heard, felt, tasted, smelled or even sensed. You can use the exact source if you have their permission or if you don't, you can use a general name like book, TV, he, she, experts, etc. They bring credibility to your ad because you're not the only one making those statements. Your prospects will trust what you're saying even more.

Chapter 8: 12 Unforeseen Closes

Most closes you read are very direct and command you to order. That can be a real turn off for most people. People don't want to be told what to do, they hear it enough at home, at work, from the government, from law enforcement, etc.

Your closes should be less direct and allow your prospects to think it's their idea to buy, they are making the decision. For example: You might want to try out our product because ...

Your indirect close should always be followed with a good reason to buy though. It could be bonuses, limited time offer, easy payment options, free shipping, etc.

You might want to try out our product because ...

You may want to purchase today because ...

Possibly you should order today because ...

Usually people buy the first time they visit our website because ...

Rarely do people leave our website without ordering because ...

Primarily people order the first time they read our ad because ...

Chapter 10: 160 Mind-Opening Questions

Questions are very hypnotic. Your prospects have been raised their whole lives to answer questions. It's like an automatic mental habit. Questions can spark persuasive thoughts and mental images in your prospect's mind. It opens up their subconscious mind to your buying suggestions.

For example: If I could show you how to lose 20 pounds in a week, would that interest you? If the goal of your target audience is to lose weight quickly, this would stimulate their inner brain to think "yes" and conjure up a mental image of themselves 20 pounds lighter and all the benefits that go along with it, like buying new clothes, finding a date, fitting into a favorite dress, not feeling self-conscious, etc.

Are you ... ?
Are you going to ... ?
Are these the benefits you want?
Aren't you ... ?
Ask yourself ... ?
Can I show you ... ?
Can you guess ... ?
Can you guess what could happen if ... ?

Can you handle ... ?

Chapter 11: 20 Unorthodox Suggestions

Ask your prospects to read persuasive parts of your ad copy in different ways. When they do this they are using more of their senses to absorb your message. It can then influence their conscious and subconscious mind at the same time. This can quickly help to brand your product and persuade them to buy with their other senses.

Mentally ask yourself ...
Mentally repeat to yourself 3 times ...
Silently and slowly read ...
Visualize each word you mentally read ...

Mentally tell yourself ...
Concentrate on the meaning of each word you silently read ...
Mentally talk to yourself about what you just read ...
Imagine listening to your favorite song as you silently read ...
Mentally sing the following sentence ...
Mentally imagine listening to my voice as you silently read ...

Ask yourself out loud ...
Repeat to yourself 3 times out loud ...
Slowly read out loud ...
Visualize each word you read ...
Tell yourself out loud ...
Think about the meaning of each word you read ...
Talk to yourself about what you just read ...
Imagine listening to your favorite song as you read ...
Sing the following sentence ...
Mentally imagine listening to my voice as you read out loud ...

Chapter 13: 10 Emotional Triggers

It's almost common knowledge that any single word in a group of other words written in capital letters conveys emotion or shouting. Depending on the word and the words around it, it could communicate anger, excitement, enthusiasm, frustration, etc. The goal of your ad copy is to have your prospects feel emotions that will persuade them to buy. So why not have them actually say and feel the emotion in first person. It will trigger their subconscious mind to activate those feelings. For example, "SUPERB! I can't wait to learn how to ... !"

Excitement, Enthusiasm, Happiness

"GREAT! I want to learn how to ... "
"YES! I want to know 10 ways to ... "
"SUPER! I want to find out 5 secrets to ... "
"AWESOME! I want to uncover why ... "
"OUTSTANDING! I want to discover what ... "
"TERRIFIC! I want to learn the top ... "

Anger, Sadness, Frustration

"SHOOT! I don't want to experience ... !"
"HORRIBLE! I don't want to feel ... !"
"NO, I don't want to have ... !"
"X%&*#$, I don't want to lose ... !"

The End

24 Psychic Predictions that Can Supercharge Your Sales!

Make Your Website's Aura Sell!

How to Use the Power of Tarot Cards to Increase Your Sales!

INTRODUCTION

Psychics are known to have ESP (extrasensory perception). They gather information without using the known five senses (sight, hearing, smell, taste, or touch). But they do use information from the regular five senses as evidence to make their final conclusion. The information they acquire can be about a person, a future event, the past, etc. Other skills they may possess are moving objects with their thoughts and mind-to-mind communication.

Many experts think we all have ESP. They think some people just have a stronger sense than others. They also think you can strengthen the psychic ability you already possess, be it weak or strong.

Have you ever been in a business meeting and finished someone else's words before they did?

Have you ever had a positive feeling about a new product and you were right?

Have you ever known that an employee or associate was lying to you without having any evidence and you found out you were right?

Or maybe you've had:

A "mental sign," like a light or spark going off in your head, similar to when you suddenly have a good idea.

A "physical sign," like butterflies in your stomach, similar to driving quickly over a hill.

An "emotional sign," like the feeling of excitement, similar to getting a huge tax refund when you weren't expecting it.

A "thought sign," something you can't stop thinking about, similar to getting ready to meet a blind date.

A "visual sign," like mentally seeing an image to write about, similar to seeing an event before it happens.

I'll bet you've had at least one or all of the above sensations during your lifetime. You've likely used your intuition or had a psychic sign, which urged you to buy this e-book.

In the next week or so really try to notice and be aware of any "psychic signs" (like the ones described above) that you may have. Write them down when they come to you. Review them and think about what they mean. Think about how they are directing your life. How they are persuading you to make your everyday and lifelong decisions. You will make more profitable decisions when you use both your intellect and intuition together.

There are many people who believe in the psychic phenomena and there are many who don't. Who is right? I feel both opinions are right.

There are many reasons why people believe in the paranormal. They may have talked to a psychic who predicted their future correctly; had a psychic experience of their own like, for example, déjà vu; they want to believe because it gives them hope; etc.

The skeptics don't believe in it because they had an incorrect psychic reading; they only believe what they can see; they want to see hard core evidence of psychic powers that leaves no doubt in their mind; etc.

You don't need to be psychic in order to use psychic marketing or copywriting strategies. In order to use these abilities you just need to apply some basic psychic language and skills.

Now, you hard core psychic fans mustn't get frustrated, these psychic descriptions may vary from yours because of how they're applied to business. Anyway, while doing my research almost every description I read varied to a certain extent.

In this e-book you will learn 12 psychic abilities and concepts. You will also learn how to easily apply them to your business.

PRECOGNITION

What Is Precognition?

Precognition is the psychic ability to predict future events. It's comparable to future telling.

How to Apply Precognition to Marketing

You can test your ad copy before you launch your product. Publish your full-page ad on your web site and just ask your visitors if they want to be notified when your product launches. You can have them sign up for an e-mail notification list. People who sign up will very likely buy your product. You can check your web site statistics to know the ratio of potential sales-to-visitors. If the ratio isn't high enough, you can try a different headline, opening, testimonial, price, guarantee closing, p.s, etc. Keep making adjustments to your ad till the ratio is high enough. Testing your product's ad ahead of time can save you money and reveal your future sales.

How to Apply Precognition to Copywriting

You can tell your readers what will happen in their future if they buy or don't buy your product. Tell them all the goals they will accomplish or not accomplish, the benefits they'll get or won't get, what their friends and family will think and say, etc. Explain the feelings and emotions they will gain or avoid like happiness, fear, sadness, etc. All your predictions should persuade the reader to buy your product.

THE THREE BASIC TYPES OF PRECOGNITION

1. CLAIRAUDIENCE

What Is Clairaudience?

Clairaudience is the psychic ability to hear sounds nobody else can.

How to Apply Clairaudience to Marketing

You can call up your best customers and ask them questions such as: What other kind of products are you interested in? What did you like best or least about our product? These types of questions can give you an idea of what kind of products to develop or offer in the future.

Persuade your customers to call you. Offer a toll free 1-800 number and 24-hour customer service. If you have an answering machine or voicemail, be sure to answer all your messages promptly.

How to Apply Clairaudience to Copywriting

For example, you could say in your ad:

One week from now I can hear you telling your friends how much our product has improved your golf game.

I can hear you telling your friend five months from now...

I hear your mother telling you three days from now...

2. CLAIRENTIENCE

What Is Clairsentience?

Clairsentience is the psychic ability to experience other people's sensations, feelings or emotions that no one else can.

How to Apply Clairsentience to Marketing

You could keep a collection of all your customers' e-mails and phone call recordings/transcripts. You could file them under complaints and compliments. You can look back and study these records to find out what circumstances triggered which emotions. This intelligence will give you a good idea of how to present or market your products and improve your customer service in the future.

How to Apply Clairsentience to Copywriting

For example, you could say in your ad:

I can sense your feeling of happiness two years from now.

I can feel the pain you'll experience in a few days when you...

3. CLAIRVOYANCE

What Is Clairvoyance?

Clairvoyance is the psychic ability to see visions or images no one else can.

How to Apply Clairvoyance to Marketing

You can use ad-tracking software to track which ads are pulling the most hits. You'll know which of two ads pull the most hits. You'll know which ads to retire and which ones to keep running. You'll know which e-zine article pulled the most hits. Ad-tracking software will allow you to see your future ad-to-hits ratio and hits-to-sales ratio.

How to Apply Clairvoyance to Copywriting

For example, you could say in your ad:

I can picture you two weeks from now...

I can see you earning a lot of money in just a few weeks of buying our product.

RETROCOGNITION

What Is Retrocognition?

Retrocognition is the psychic ability to see past events using your mind.

How to Apply Retrocognition to Marketing

You can see past events by surveying your existing customers, visitors or e-zine subscribers. You can now learn things that you didn't know about your business in the past. Maybe your customers bought your main product just to get the free gifts. Your visitors may have thought it's too hard to navigate through your web site. By knowing this important information you can improve your web site, products/services, advertising and marketing. Surveying people will allow you to fix your past mistakes.

How to Apply Retrocognition to Copywriting

You can tell your readers something which is in common with all their pasts. They will be amazed that you know this information and will give you instant credibility.

For example, you could say in your ad:

Remember when you were a small child and you could wake up and do whatever you wanted?

TELEPATHY

What Is Telepathy?

Telepathy is the psychic ability of knowing another person's thoughts by reading their mind or communicating mind-to-mind.

How to Apply Telepathy T=to Marketing

You can find out a person's thoughts about trading e-zine ads before you send them your joint venture offer. One way is to look and see if they state it in their e-zine. Another way is to see if they have a similar target audience and circulation. If they do, you know their thoughts would lean heavily towards trading ads with you.

How to Apply Telepathy to Copywriting

You can put yourself in your potential customers' shoes. Think about what thoughts compelled them to read your ad. Just include this information in your ad.

For example, you could say in your ad:

I know you're thinking if you lose your job, you might have to file for bankruptcy.

You can also send thoughts to your readers.

Tell your readers what they're thinking as they read your words. Most people will actually start thinking or feeling it because you brought it up. Only bring up thoughts that will attract them to visit your web site or buy your product.

For example, you could say in your ad:

As you're reading this information you begin to think about...

EMPATHY

What Is Empathy?

Empathy is the psychic ability to experience the emotions and feelings of another person.

How to Apply Empathy to Marketing

You know that if you were selling a football magazine, a football manufacturer's emotions would be favorable to cross-promoting products. You both have the same target audience and you aren't in direct competition.

How to Apply Empathy to Copywriting

You can again put yourself in your potential customers' shoes. Think about what feelings would make them read your ad. Just include this information in your ad.

For example, you could say in your ad:

I know you're worried and scared that someone could possibly break into your house and harm your family.

You can also send emotions to your reader.

Tell your readers what they're feeling as they read your words. Most people will actually start thinking or feeling it because you brought it up. Only bring up feelings that will attract them to visit your web site or buy your product.

For example, you could say in your ad:

As you're studying this article you suddenly begin to feel...

PSYCHOKINESIS

What Is Psychokinesis?

Psychokinesis is the psychic ability to use your mental thoughts to influence a physical object or an event. It's like making a pencil roll across a desk using your thoughts alone.

How to Apply Psychokinesis to Marketing

You can type your mental thoughts. You likely already know that people are drawn to freebies if they have a high-perceived value. You could advertise your freebie on a banner ad and influence your target audience to click on your banner.

How to Apply Psychokinesis to Copywriting

You can also type your mental thoughts. You likely already know that people will order quicker with a limited time offer. You could tell your readers that if they order in the next 10 minutes they'll get a 20% discount. So, your thoughts are influencing them to pull out their credit card and type up their order.

PSYCHOMETRY

What Is Psychometry?

Psychometry is the psychic ability to use an object as a psychic tool. Like a crystal ball.

How to Apply Psychometry to Marketing

You can use your computer to get on the Internet and keep track of what your competition is doing. You could visit their web site, sign up for their marketing material, order their products, read their PR section, etc. You can use this information to find a USP (unique selling proposition) or niche to gain a larger piece of your market. You can also do this by using legal online spy software.

How to Apply Psychometry to Copywriting

For example, you could say in your ad:

As I look at you through your computer I see that your problems and worries are starting to disappear the closer you come to ordering our product.

OUT OF BODY EXPERIENCES

What Are Out of Body Experiences?

Out of body experiences are usually related to the paranormal. It's when a person mentally leaves their own body and sees themselves somewhere else. It's comparable to dreaming, being locked in a memory, fantasizing, etc.

How to Apply Out of Body Experiences to Marketing

You can send a joint venture offer to web site owners and ask them to trade links. You can give them an out of body experience by describing the future benefits of the joint venture.

For example, your JV offer could say:

Imagine getting free traffic by only doing a few minutes work. Think about all the extra orders you'll receive.

How to Apply Out of Body Experiences to Copywriting

Tell your readers to imagine a time or experience in their life that's real or fantasy. The scene should be something that would persuade them to keep reading your ad and eventually influence them to buy.

For example, when copywriting you could say in your ad:

Visualize how fast your web site will load when you sign up to our high speed cable access.

COLD READING

What Is Cold Reading?

Cold Reading is the psychic ability to tell people things about themselves without having prior knowledge about them. It would be called Hot Reading if you had prior information about the person.

How to Apply Cold Reading to Marketing

You could increase the number of people that sign up to your affiliate program. Tell them things that would apply to most people who would sign up to an affiliate program. They will feel like you know their needs and you're ready to help them make as much money as possible.

For example, your affiliate ad could say:

I know you want the opportunity to make money without the hassle of writing ads, creating your own product and getting your own merchant account.

How to Apply Cold Reading to Copywriting

You can tell your readers vague and general things about themselves. The statements should be information that could apply to anyone or specifically to your target audience. This will make your readers feel like you really do know and understand them, which will create trust, rapport and credibility.

For example, you could say in your ad:

You have a need for other people to compliment you.

At times you seem to be depressed.

REMOTE VIEWING

What Is Remote Viewing?

Remote Viewing is the psychic ability to become aware of the experiences or actions of people and places that are at a distant location.

How to Apply Remote Viewing to Marketing

You know that if you were selling marketing e-books, part of your target audience would be participating in marketing related discussion boards and chat rooms. You know that they would be reading marketing related e-zines and web sites. You would also know where to place your advertising because you are aware of your audience's actions and experiences, even though they are at a distant location.

How to Apply Remote Viewing to Copywriting

For example, you could say in your ad:

I can see that you're already pulling out your credit card.

PSYCHIC DREAMING

What is Psychic Dreaming?

Psychic Dreaming is the ability to have realistic dreams which tell the past, present or future. Some psychic dreams are symbolic, which means they have to be interpreted by a dream expert.

How to Apply Psychic Dreaming to Marketing

Most online entrepreneurs have dreams about getting a great deal of traffic and sales. If you can remember your dream, write every detail down. Where did you advertise? What marketing strategies did you use? What did your ad say? What were you offering? Why did people visit your web site? Why did they buy? These little details could be psychic signs on how to improve your real business.

How to Apply Psychic Dreaming to Copywriting

For example, you could say in your ad:

I had a dream last night that you wanted to improve your sales. In my dream I saw you reading this e-book.

By incorporating these psychic abilities and concepts into your marketing and copywriting strategies, you can dramatically increase your traffic and sales. I can see it in your near future.

Bonus 4 - Make Your Website's Aura Sell!

by Larry Dotson

Some psychics claim they can see an aura around other humans or objects. An aura is basically an outline of color shining from the surface of a human being or an object. Many psychics claim that each color has a specific meaning. For example, if they see a red aura it can mean passion.

Your website and marketing materials can also have an aura. The first thing that people see and register in their mind when they visit your website is the color. They see the color of your background, text, and graphics.

Color can change your visitor's mood, emotion, feelings and behavior. What emotions do you feel, or what things do you associate with the color pink? Most people feel romantic or calm and associate love or sex with the color pink.

Not all colors have the same effect on everyone. Some colors might have negative effects on people. It depends on their upbringing, experiences in life, their culture, where they live, etc.

Below is a list of colors and how they could improve your website and business:

Red

- Use red to get people a little extra-excited about your product or service.
- Use red in headlines and sub-headlines because it grabs people's attention. Red stop signs do the same thing.
- Use red in your closing and when you ask them to order. Red can persuade people to take action.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color red are: love, romance, fire, war, blood, roses, danger, fire engines, sex, stop signs, etc.

Yellow

- People usually buy quicker if they're in a good mood. Yellow can create a happy mood.
- For example, on a sunny day people are usually in a better mood than on a cloudy day.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color yellow are: corn, brightness, cheerfulness, light, idea, lightening, sun, gold, daisies, etc.

Pink

- Pink is considered a friendly color. When people are friendly with us, our nature is to be friendly right back (maybe like purchasing a product).
- Pink makes a good background color.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color pink are: love, romance, pigs, sex, pink roses, etc.

Blue

- Blue is a very powerful color. It can make people stay at your web site longer because it relaxes them and calms them down. Just think about running water or blue skies.
- People associate darker blues with authority. Like businessmen in blue suits, or policemen. People will buy quicker from authoritative figures or businesses. Wear a blue suit if you publish your picture on your web site.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color blue are: water, rain, sky, policemen, business suits, ocean, etc.

Orange

- Orange can create a feeling of warmth and comfort. Just think about the sun. Or going from cold to hot. AHHHHHH... Orange can make your prospects feel more comfortable ordering from you.

- Things people might feel and associate with the color orange are: the sunshine, oranges, sunsets, warmth, etc.

Green

- Green makes people feel secure. Use it in your privacy policy, guarantee or on your secure ordering page.
- Money is green; when people have more of it they feel more financially secure.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color green are: grass, trees, luck, spring, life, money, etc.

Purple

- Purple is associated with royalty. Look at the old movies of medieval kings and queens wearing purple. People have been conditioned to respect royalty all of their lives. This association could help your customers respect your business.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color purple are: grapes, wisdom, royalty, etc.

White

- Use a white background on your web site. People associate white with trust and honesty. Both of these qualities will help you sell more products.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color white are: purity, surrender, peace, doves, milk, innocence, etc.,

Black

- Use black text on a white background because people associate the color combination with professionalism and sophistication.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color black are: night, evil, death, cats, etc.

Brown

- Use brown colored text for your business name because it relates to credibility. It will help your customers trust your business quicker.
- Things people might feel and associate with the color brown are: earth, stability, wood, leather, etc.

Gold/Silver

- Gold and silver are considered valuable.
- Use those colors on your product's packaging to make it look more valuable.
- They're also considered rare metal. People like to buy and own things that are considered rare. Use the colors silver and gold in your ad copy with a limited time offer.
- Things people might feel and associate with the colors gold and silver are: jewelry, wealth, rare items, etc.

In conclusion, really think about the aura your web site and marketing materials are giving off. It could be the difference between making or breaking a sale.

Bonus 5 - How to Use the Power of Tarot Cards to Increase Your Sales!

by Larry Dotson

Tarot cards can be used for telling the past, present and future. They can reveal a person's emotions, desires, beliefs and struggles. The types of cards the tarot reader uses can vary. Most tarot cards have numbers and pictures on them. The numbers and pictures all have different meanings.

The tarot reader will shuffle and deal out your cards. The amount of cards dealt and how they are laid out is up to the reader. The reader will then interpret and combine the meaning of all the cards. After the reader is finish they will give your psychic reading.

Do you realize that people interpret everyday objects and symbols into meanings? What do you think of when you see a picture of a light bulb? Most people think of light, a bright idea and electricity.

Not all objects and symbols have the same effect on everyone. Some objects and symbols might have a negative effect on people. It depends on their upbringing, experiences in life, their culture, where they live, etc.

Below are some examples of common, everyday objects and symbols, and how they will help you sell more of your products.

The Number 7 -- Some people think the number seven is lucky. The number would be persuasive in a gambling ad.

Heart -- Some people associate a heart shape with love and romance. A heart would influence people to buy if you were selling roses.

The Number 1 -- Some people consider the number one as being the best, and as first place. The number 1 might work well for a business or athletic ad.

Trees And Plants -- Some people associate plants and trees with life. These symbols should compel people to buy health or medical products.

Red Traffic Light -- Some people associate a red traffic light with STOP. This could grab a person's attention so that they focus on your ad.

Money -- Some people associate money with greed or being rich. Money objects would sell business and stock opportunities well.

There are millions of other objects and symbols. You can go to your local library and look up what certain objects and symbols represent to people in your country, and other countries if you have a global audience. Sometimes you can just think about an object or symbol and know what it represents.
